

HARDING REJECTS VERSAILLES TREATY

DECLARATION BRINGS BIG DEMONSTRATION FROM REPUBLICANS

Says That Acceptance of the League Would be Nothing Short of Betrayal of Mandate of the November Elections—Asks for An Investigation of the Railroad Problem

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Final rejection of the Versailles league of nations by the American government was proclaimed to the world today by President Harding in a solemn pronouncement of the foreign policies of his administration.

Speaking before the new congress, assembled to write a program of political and economic reconstruction, the president declared acceptance of the league would be nothing short of a betrayal of the mandate of the November elections. Instead, he asked for a congressional declaration of peace and for ratification of those portions of the Versailles treaty which protect specifically American rights and interests in the war settlement.

"In the existing league of nations, world governing with its super-powers this republic will have no part," he said. "It is only fair to say to the world in general and to our associates in war particularly that the league covenant can have no sanction by us."

The declaration was answered by a tremendous demonstration in which Republican senators and representatives led while most of their Democratic colleagues sat silent and unsmiling. After weighing the words of the chief executive, the senatorial group of treaty irreconcilables tonight were claiming a complete victory, predicting that even the portions of the treaty endorsed by Mr. Harding never would receive senate approval.

In his recommendations for domestic legislation, the president gave greatest attention to tariff and tax revision and to the railway situation, the he endorsed a list of lesser measures which congressional leaders declared might prolong the special session until the snow flies. He also took occasion in his address of nearly an hour to declare his faith in a maintained merchant marine and in the principles of armament reduction without asking for legislation on either subject.

An emergency tariff to correct serious disorders in American industry was placed at the head of the president's requests and within an hour after he finished speaking the house ways and means committee agreed to report tomorrow the emergency measure passed at the last session and vetoed by President Wilson. For the permanent tariff bill that is to be framed later, Mr. Harding made no specific suggestion except that it follow the principle of protection.

Similarly, the president refrained from detailed recommendations on taxation, contenting himself with a general discussion of the situation with an added reminder that his party pledged itself in the last campaign to repeal the excess profits tax. He also recalled the campaign promise to organize a separate government department of public welfare, but made no recommendation whether a cabinet official should be placed at its head.

The Railroad Problem. Declaring that rates and operating expenses of the railroads must be lowered, Mr. Harding asked that congress investigate the whole transportation problem.

He recommended co-ordination of all governmental agencies dealing with former service men, strengthening of the federal laws affecting highway construction and maintenance, enactment of budget legislation, and a congressional inquiry into lynching and race relations in general.

Mr. Harding's definite stand against the league covenant was not a surprise to Republican leaders of the senate although the exact wording of the declaration was an unsettled question until shortly before the executive left for the capitol to deliver his address. The first draft of the manuscript was completed soon after midnight, and when the proof sheets came from the public printer this morning the president cancelled the regular Tuesday cabinet meeting and summoned Republican members of the foreign relations committee to the White House.

In conference with the committee members, the president considered the foreign relations section of the address for more than an hour, hearing the advice of mild reservationists as well as of the more extreme. Without exception the senators (Continued on Page Five.)

SQUARE DEAL FOR CAPITAL; DECENT WAGE FOR LABOR

Secretary of Labor
Davis Makes Plea in Chicago Address

EMPLOYERS FOOTBALL
FOR "MUCKRAKERS"

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 12.—A plea for a fair deal for capital, a decent living wage for labor, larger profits for farmers thru lower railroad shipping rates, and settlement of all industrial disputes thru conferences between employer and employee, with the Golden Rule as the basis of settlement, was made tonight by James J. Davis, secretary of labor, in an address before the Loyal Order of Moose.

Secretary Davis warned labor that if it is to take a share in the organization and policies of the nation it must also take a share in the nation's responsibilities, and declared that labor must see that transportation conditions were such that the farmer could make a fair profit.

He upheld the right of capital as well as labor to be given a fair chance in presenting its side of all controversies and then warned capital that a decent living wage for labor was necessary to assure loyal Americanism in the ranks of the workers.

Concerning building, he expressed a wish that a law would be passed giving him power to conduct a national building inquiry, declaring that he would spare neither the profiteering contractor nor the corrupt labor leader.

From time to time the large employers of labor and some of them justly so, have been made the football of "muckrakers," said Secretary Davis.

"They have been painted in every color save that of the lily and when they have striven to give their side of the case they have been charged with the dread crime of propagandism, as tho the employers as well as the employees, hadn't a right to present their differences without being showered with charges."

"There is at least one thing they must be given credit for—a desire to keep the wheels of progress going; for keeping their factories in operation at a great loss and sacrifice. They are beginning more and more to realize how essential their business is to public good and to keep their organizations intact."

Labor for generations has been fighting a defensive fight for its rights. Now it has reached the stage where it proposes to take a share in the responsibility for the organization and direction of the policies of the nation. Its viewpoint must become constructive. If it is to continue to share the confidence and prosperity of the nation it must share in the responsibilities. It must realize that any plan of action or policy that proposes to confer privileges and benefits on one group that are not to be extended to all other will inevitably fail and will, in the long run, bring only suffering and discouragement to the group it was intended to benefit.

WILL KEEP TRAIN FROM VIEW OF PUBLIC

DOORN, Holland, April 12.—Preparations are being made at Maars Station to keep from the view of the public the train which will transport the body of Augusta Victoria to Germany. Large tubs containing palms, laurels and other plants will be placed along the tracks over which the train will pass.

Court Chaplain von Dryander this afternoon had a long talk with former Emperor William in the park surrounding Doorn Castle. After the conversation William apparently was more composed than he previously had been. Later Chaplain von Dryander prayed over the body of Augusta Victoria. He had known the former empress since childhood.

There was an almost continuous file of automobiles and carriages before Doorn Castle today. They brought prominent German and Dutchmen who signed the condolence register. Only relatives and the most intimate friends of the family were admitted to the castle. Large numbers of wreaths and floral crosses were delivered at the castle today.

President Warren G. Harding

Text of Harding's Recommendations

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—President Harding's principal recommendations to congress in his first annual address delivered today included the following:

Foreign Relations
No separate peace with Germany "on the assumption alone that these would be adequate." "The wiser course would seem to be to engage under the existing treaty assuming of course that this can be satisfactorily accomplished by such explicit reservations and modifications as will secure absolute freedom of inviolable commitments and safeguard all our essential interests."

Taxation
Readjustments of internal taxes and revision or repeal "of those taxes which have become unproductive and are so artificial and burdensome as to defeat their own purpose."

Tariff
Instant tariff enactment, "emergency in character and understood by our people that it is for the emergency only."

Railroads
Efficient operation "at a cost within that which the tariff can bear."

Good Roads.
The strengthening of laws governing federal aid.

Merchant Marine
The United States means to establish and maintain a great merchant marine.

Aviation
"Regulation by the federal government and encouragement of aviation for development for military and civil purposes."

Ex-Service Men
"The American people expect congress unfailingly to voice the gratitude of the republic in generous and practical way to its defenders in the world war."

Public Welfare
Co-ordination of various government agencies now working on the subject and the re-employment of the pending maternity bill.

Lynching
"Congress ought to wipe the stain of barbaric lynching from the banners of a free and orderly representative democracy. A proposal for a commission with representatives of white and black races to study and report on the subject." The president said, "has real merit."

Army and Navy
Early consideration of pending appropriation bills was urged, "the government is in accord with the wish to eliminate the burdens of heavy armament," the president said, "The United States will ever be in harmony with such a movement toward the higher attainments of peace. But we shall not entirely discard our agencies for defense until there is removed the need to defend. We are ready to co-operate with other nations to approximate disarmament, but must prudently forbid that we disarm alone."

National Finance
The staggering load of war debt must be cared for in orderly funding and gradual liquidation. We shall hasten the solution and aid effectively in lifting the tax burdens if we strike resolutely at expenditure.

Business
"Less of government in business as well as more business in government."

Administration
Enactment of a national budget system and general reductions by efficient management of the cost of government.

Agriculture
"The maintained retail costs in perishable foods cannot be justified."

Railroad Dispute Will Be Settled Without Strike
NEW YORK, April 12.—The railroad dispute will be settled without strike, Howard Elliott, chairman of the board of directors of the Northern Pacific railroad, declared today in an address at the annual stockholders' meeting.

BILL INTRODUCED BY SENATOR BARR

(By The Associated Press)

SPRINGFIELD, April 12.—Compensation for members of the state board of equalization abolished in 1919 when the state tax commission was created is provided in a bill introduced in the legislature today by Senator Barr. Members of the board who were not permitted to complete their term of office were here today asking for an appropriation of $49,847 to reimburse them for their unexpired terms.

Senator Barr and Representative Scanlan introduced bills re-appropriating $180,180 for the constitutional convention which adjourned last summer to reconvene next September.

Mills Introduces Bills.
Governor Small's bills to establish temporary and permanent homes for disabled veterans of the world war were presented by Senator Mills of Virginia, an ex-soldier who also offered a bill to repeal the 1919 act providing pensions for judges.

Three Democrats followed the lead of Representative Lee O'Neill Browne in voting for the Sawyer resolution placing the legislature on record as endorsing some of the salient features of Governor Small's platform. Twelve Republicans voted against the resolution which was adopted by a vote of 75 to 54.

The house passed the Ripps bill extending the terms of Chicago aldermen elected in 1920 to 1923. Failure to re-district the city under the fifty ward plan would have left the council with only thirty-five members under 123 if the aldermen whose terms expire next year were not allowed to hold over.

Vetoed Ripps Bill.
Exercising the veto power for the first time, Governor Small today returned to the general assembly, the Ripps bill to amend the Torrens Land Title act, declaring it would be "unjust and intolerable" in its revival of outlawed claims and tax certificates against property. According to the governor's information, it would attack titles to 50,000 parcels of property.

Fight against the Sawyer resolution memorializing congress to enact all of Governor Small's platform policies into laws, was started in the house this afternoon by Minority Leader Devine, who declared the legislature "no place for factional differences of the Republican party." He characterized the resolution as an "insult to Illinois congressmen," and an "impairment of their integrity."

Continuing his arraignment of the resolution, Rep. Devine, denounced it as an attempt to "insult the legislature," and "to place the legislature in a position of weakness."

A bonus only for Illinois war veterans who served at least two months in the World War was declared upon by the house this afternoon, in defeating an amendment 72 to 69, which would give the 50 cents a day bonus to all who served, without limitation.

Over the opposition of Minority Leader Devine, who declared it an "insult to Illinois congressmen," and an "impairment of their integrity," the house of representatives this afternoon adopted the Sawyer resolution, 75 to 54, memorializing congress to enact all of Governor Small's platform policies into laws. Mr. Devine declared the legislature "no place for factional differences of the Republican party."

Senator Knox of Pennsylvania author of the peace resolution adopted by the last congress and vetoed by President Wilson, is quoted as saying that President Harding's suggestion that a declaration of policy as to our attitude toward the recrudescence of threatening militarism should be temporarily postponed, was entirely agreeable to him.

There had been some discussion of the incorporation of such a declaration in a peace resolution to be adopted by the present congress.

SUGGESTS CEDING OF WEST INDIES AS PART PAYMENT OF DEBT

Senator Reed Would Have the President Ask
Great Britain to Give United States Islands

—Also Wants France to Cede French Antilles—Many Freak Measures Introduced

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—While old and new legislative proposals in the senate today numbered less than 500 as compared with 2500 odd yesterday in the house, they ranged from tax plans, thru anti-strike legislation to adjustment of internal debts.

Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah, put in his bill establishing a tax in lieu of excess profits taxing methods and also an embargo measure against wool importation. Senator King, Democrat, also of Utah, proposed to make conferences to assist price fixing criminal and also to make conspiracies to "hamper movement of freight and persons" interstate commerce illegal.

Senator Poindexter, Republican, Washington, followed the same track with a bill designed to prohibit strikes in interstate commerce.

Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, re-introducing a resolution suggesting that the president ask Great Britain whether her West Indian possessions could not be ceded to the United States in part payment of present indebtedness, added a suggestion for an inquiry of the same nature of France as to the French Antilles.

Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, proposed recognition of the "Irish Republic."

Creation of a permanent commission to investigate lynchings over the United States was contained in a bill by Senator McCormick, Republican, Maryland, while Senator Kellogg, Republican, Minnesota, renewed his bill to give the state department control over cable landing rights.

Senator Frelinghuysen, Republican, New Jersey, proposed creating a coal commission, while Senator Owen, Democrat, Oklahoma, offered measures to limit federal reserve bank interest charges to six per cent, to create a federal marketing department for farmers, and for publication of a national bulletin on government and politics.

A public welfare bill was sponsored by Senator Kenyon, Republican, Iowa, who added a stringent measure for registration and regulation of lobbyists. Senator France, Republican, Maryland, suggested amnesty for all persons imprisoned for violations of wartime laws and Chairman McLean of the banking committee put in a bill for minting a two cent coin with Theodore Roosevelt's effigy upon it.

SENATORS ARE WELL PLEASED WITH MESSAGE

Both Groups of Republicans Pleased With League Stand

SENATOR HITCHCOCK IS DISAPPOINTED

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 12.—General approval of President Harding's declarations in his first message to congress today that the United States could have no part in the present league of nations and that the state of war should be ended by congressional resolution was expressed by Republican senate leaders, both of the "irreconcilable" and "reservationist" groups.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts the Republican leader who led the long fight for reservations to the treaty of Versailles, said he was "extremely pleased" by the message, which he declared, "separates us from the league and approves passage of the Knox resolution."

Senators Johnson of California and Borah of Idaho, leaders of the "irreconcilables," expressed satisfaction that the president had definitely rejected the present league and had declared for restoration of peace by congressional action. They expressed doubt, however, that the treaty of Versailles with the league covenant excluded could be put into shape for ratification—a possibility suggested by Mr. Harding.

Hitchcock Is Disappointed
Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, acting Democratic leader, who led the Wilson forces in the senate for ratification of the treaty and league, expressed disappointment at the president's message. He declared that by refusing to enter the league the United States had refused to take part in the effort to stabilize the social, business and governmental conditions of the world without which he said there could be neither a revival of business or prosperity.

Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, author of the peace resolution adopted by the last congress and vetoed by President Wilson, is quoted as saying that President Harding's suggestion that a declaration of policy as to our attitude toward the recrudescence of threatening militarism should be temporarily postponed, was entirely agreeable to him.

There had been some discussion of the incorporation of such a declaration in a peace resolution to be adopted by the present congress.

Secy. Hayes of the International Typographical Union suggests a campaign of publicity instead of strikes for bringing the public into a more thorough understanding of the union's position in its relation to present and general labor problems. That statement has an exceedingly sensible sound, quite in accord with the general conduct of the Typographical union in past years.

China, Czechoslovakia, The Netherlands, and France have each submitted proposed amendments to the league of nations covenant. To become effective each amendment must receive the unanimous approval of the league council and also a majority vote in the assembly. The difficulties in the way of actual amendment are manifest, and it is quite possible that each of those now proposed will fail of adoption, which fact would not increase the friendly feeling of the members.

REDUCE EXPENSES.

Let no man fool himself with the notion that the excess profits tax is paid out of the pocket of the large operator and not passed on to the consumer. One way or another the tax gradually spreads itself over the entire population of the country. Even if the operator were unable to pass the tax on by increasing his prices and his profits, the burden would be automatically passed on, ultimately, for the excess profits tax would diminish the amount of capital available for investment in production, with resultant curtailment of production, and consequent high prices. There is only one sure way of lifting taxation from the backs of all the people, and that is by reduction of expenses.

INEQUALITY IN JUSTICE.

In Chicago Monday a bank clerk who attempted to steal

$90,000 of the funds of a bank was sentenced to a year in the federal correction institution at Washington, D. C. Before a federal court in Springfield not long since a boy who was charged with the theft of a small amount of money was sent to the same institution for a period of five years.

All the facts surrounding both cases are not available at this time, but it does seem that there should have been more uniformity in the sentences imposed on these young offenders. Without knowing all the facts, it appears that the lad who was given one year has too light a sentence or the one sentenced for five years was punished too severely.

WOULD APPLY THE GOLDEN RULE.

Secretary of Labor Davis in his address to the Moose yesterday made a strong appeal for the settlement of all industrial disputes between employers and employees, with the golden rule as their guide. He maintained that capital must have a fair deal and a decent living wage paid to labor. Then he warned labor that it must bear the responsibility in coming years that it has not had in the past.

This means that certain economic conditions must be taken into account, just as they exist and that artificial situations must not be created and the effort made to appear that the artificial conditions are the result of natural causes. Let the man who finds the Davis statement illogical or ill-founded speak up.

OVERDRAFT OPPOSED BY SUPREME COURT

Finding Is Quoted by State Auditor in Writing to Banks.

Local banks have recently received copies of an opinion of the U. S. supreme court relative to overdrafts. Under the present laws of Illinois there are no private banks and all banks which operate are subject to orders from either the state auditor at Springfield or the comptroller of currency at Washington. The attention of state banks is being called to the supreme court decision by the state auditor. Occasionally a bank has a customer who feels that an injustice has been done him if the bank refuses to pay an overdraft. A reading of the opinion of the opinion referred to makes quite plain what are the duties of bankers in this regard:

The Court Opinion. "A usage to allow customers to overdraft and charge their checks and notes against it without present funds in the bank stripped of all technical disguise the usage and practice to misapply the funds of the bank and to connive at the withdrawal of same, without any security, in favor of certain privileged persons. Such a usage and practice is surely a manifest departure from the duty both of the directors and cashier as cannot receive and countenance in a court of justice. It could not be supported by any vote of the directors, however formal, and therefore, whenever done by the cashier, is at his own peril and upon the responsibility of himself and his sureties. It is anything but well and truly executing his duties as cashier."

"PUG" RUYLE STILL UNCAPTURED TUESDAY

White Hall, April 12.—"Pug" Ruyle, who escaped from the Greene county jail at Carrollton at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening is still at large at this writing, but Sheriff Holmes is making a determined effort to capture him. His method of escape was unique. The sheriff's wife opened his cell door to give him supper, when Ruyle overpowered her and locked her in the cell, making good his escape before Mrs. Holmes could attract the attention of a neighbor to come to her aid, about half an hour later. Mr. Holmes was absent at the time. It was learned later that Ruyle boarded a C. & A. passenger train at Borden, about 8:15 p. m., and it was surmised that he was making his way to his home at Roadhouse, where he went in hiding. Ruyle was under indictment for a restaurant hold-up at Roadhouse about six months ago. He was arrested at Alton, and returned a valuable diamond that he had stolen. The owner of the property endeavored to release him, but State's Attorney McNight would not consent to the release of the man, holding him on behalf of the state.

OLD JACKSONVILLE FRATERNAL AND OTHER SOCIETIES

(BY ENSLEY MOORE) Vice President Illinois State Historical Society

This column has contained references to the Masons, Odd Fellows, Ladies Education society, and some other similar organizations, but Jacksonville has had others.

Among these may be mentioned older ones, the names of which or of their members may seem like ghosts out of the past to former members or associates.

The Y. M. C. A. came into existence along in the early 70's, and finally acquired its good building, sold not long ago to the Elks, and now improved by them. This building being at the south east corner of Morgan and West streets. Among the many interested in the beginning of this enterprise were Dr. H. A. Gilman, Robt. D. Russell and Chas. M. Eames; and among its benefactors was the second Mrs. Judge Wm. Thomas, widow of the Hon. Wm. Orear.

The Y. M. C. A. building was also an early home for the Free Reading Room and Public Library.

The Jacksonville Historical Society was organized Aug. 5, 1884, with Dr. H. K. Jones, President; Dr. H. W. Milligan, secretary; Samuel W. Nichols, Historian; and M. P. Ayers, W. F. Short, Henry H. Hall, with the President and Secretary, as managers. Like some other such endeavors since then, this society never accomplished much. Then there was

The Art Society. In 1884 it had become quite prosperous. It had several interesting and valuable annual exhibitions, in different places, and rendered a good service to the community. In '84 or '85 its officers were: John H. Woods, President; Mrs. M. J. Dewees, Miss M. E. Morse, Vice Presidents; H. H. Hall, Treasurer; Miss L. E. Sturtevant, Secretary; Mrs. M. D. Wolcott, Mrs. L. M. D. Keiser, Mrs. David Prince and Dr. T. J. Pitner and others, notably Mr. Gates Strawn, as Trustees.

Subsidiary, perhaps to this was the Paint and Charcoal Club.

The Horticultural Society was organized in 1868, and kept up quite an extended work. The officers in 1885 were Hon. Edward Scott, President; A. L. Hay, Secretary and Mrs. Margaret E. Catlin, Treasurer.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians was organized in 1883, and had John Boylan, President; Charles Develin, Vice President; E. A. Cosgriff, Recording Secretary; W. A. Carroll, Financial Secretary; M. McGinnis, Treasurer; Dennis J. McCarty, Doorkeeper; John Harmon, Grand Marshal.

John H. McClain of Winchester, was united in marriage to Miss Harriet Fischer of Carrollton, at the court house at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. R. Johnson.

Mrs. W. S. Roosa and sister, Mrs. Horace Hankins, left Monday night for Springfield, where their father, James Towell, expected to undergo an operation Tuesday.

Misses Nora and Margaret Dwyer were taken to Jacksonville, Tuesday morning, for treatment at Our Savior's hospital. Walter Johnson and daughter and son, Freda and Dale, of Pittsfield; Mrs. Altha Johnson and Mrs. Ellis of Dutton, Ill., motored to Winchester Tuesday morning and were guests for a short time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rohrig. Later they traveled to Jacksonville, Mrs. Rohrig accompanying them.

Speech work was put on by the Eastern Star Monday night, when seven candidates were initiated. This was one of the largest classes taken in this winter and the ceremony was a very interesting one. Refreshments and a social time followed the ceremonial session.

HI Y CLUB ENTERTAINED Forty members of the Hi Y club were entertained at a supper Tuesday evening by the ladies of the Congregational church. A special program had been prepared for the occasion. Harry Walker and J. S. Findley were the speakers for the evening. Dr. Woltman was also booked to speak but was unable to be present.

I. W. C. STUDENTS ELECT PRESIDENT

The Students' Association of Illinois college elected the president for the year 1921-22 yesterday morning. The two candidates from next year's Senior class were Miss Ada Clotfelter of Hillsboro, Ill., and Miss Harriet Keys of Lincoln. Miss Keys was elected.

and John Develin, Sergeant-at-arms.

This was a benevolent society, paying weekly benefits to sick and needy members.

The Turnverein was organized Feb. 3, 1858, with seven members, Phillip Braun, H. Lomb, L. Well, Nat. Neuman, Fred. Fries, M. Rosenbach and H. Fitzenberger.

They first met in a barber shop under the Mansion House (Park Hotel) afterwards in a hall on a lot owned by Mrs. Fay. The membership increased until the Civil War, when, by volunteering for the Union, the number was reduced to six.

After the War it grew apace, and purchased the Christian church building, corner of North Main and North streets, which it enlarged to suit its purposes. This society belonged to the national "Bund," and helped its needy and distressed members; also practicing gymnastics.

In 1888, the President was A. Miller; Vice President, L. Leurig; Treasurer, H. Engel; Treasurer of the sick fund John Schaefer, Secretary, Ph. Schultz; Teachers of gymnastics, Wm. Kempf and Warden, H. Prange. The Ancient Order of United Workmen leased the room over Bassett's store, in 1881, now occupied by the Woodmen, and fixed it up suitably to the purposes of the association.

The Knights of Honor got down to business in those days, with W. A. Oliver as Dictator. The latter office was safer at that time than it has been of late.

The Anti-Horse Stealing Society turned loose in about the same era, and began its beneficent career, with Alderman W. Chaucey Carter as manager.

It would seem as if it ought now to turn into an Auto Keeping Association. No extra charge for the suggestion.

The Round Table that noble organization of the younger literary men was formed about 1884.

During that existence the crowd was increased by the admission of Wm. J. Bryan, J. R. Harker and Richard Yates—who ever they were.

Bryan and John G. Morrison met later in Lincoln, Nebraska, as a home, and organized a second Round Table, which probably lasted about as long as the wives of the members would let up fine suppers for the literary husbands.

And so the list of Jacksonville societies ran along, "Too numerous to mention."

RECREATION IN JACKSONVILLE

Too much attention has frequently been paid to the artificial, and too little to the natural development of the parks. When Nichols' park was laid out a thoroughly competent landscape artist prepared plans for its development. A start was made on these plans, but a member of the commission objected to the planting of the shrubbery because it was difficult to mow around it; hence it was replanted on straight lines. It is doubtful if the original plans could be found today.

A landscape architect is now preparing plans for the new Mauvaisterre lake extension. It is hoped that, as he is entirely competent, the park commissioners of the future will at least preserve the plans he submits on paper.

The streets of the city should also be placed in charge of the park commissioners for tree planting. Trees could easily be produced on lands in their care for use in beautifying the streets. Damage by the elements and ruthless hacking by telephone companies together with oncoming age will, in the near future, remove most of the fine trees along the streets of Jacksonville. When the city was laid out there was scarcely a tree on or near its site.

Pioneers from New England planted elms and other trees along the village streets and around their homes. In their maturity these trees have made Jacksonville famous. Several streets are arching with them and among the elms are specimens not excelled in America. In approaching the city from any direction a stranger would not expect to find a city, were it not for church spires, smoke stacks, etc., so completely is the city hidden by its luxuriant tree growth.

For many years there has been little planting of desirable trees, most of those planted being varieties which grow quickly and break down easily. Hardy trees should be planted along the streets, else the city in the not far distant future will become almost treeless. Not only should the streets be planted with trees; but as rapidly as hard surfaced roads are extended from the city trees should be planted along them for while trees are a nuisance along earth roads they will prove a blessing along hard roads.

Individual Parks.

Nichols' Park, with an area of about ninety acres, including fifteen acres of water, is on the southeastern edge of the city, about two miles from the center. The city traction line extends to the park. It is well lighted by electricity, the lights continuing until midnight during warm weather. The land is rolling and well suited for park purposes. When established there were a few native trees upon it but many others have been planted and it now has good shade. During the warm season the park is policed by a special officer in addition to the superintendent who has police powers. Some people however, feel that this park is not as well located as it should be.

Recently the grounds have been beautified by planting of additional shrubs, and transplanting some of the old in places where they will show to better advantage. The driveways have been improved, and the park presents a well-kept and attractive appearance. The park is equipped with a public golf links, tennis courts, a swimming pool for which part of the lake is used, a handstand, and large pavilion in which public dances are held during the summer season. There are a few boats for hire on the lake. There is a playground with considerable equipment including swings, slides, bars and rings, teeter-boards, post swing, revolving wheels, vaulting poles, etc. During the season the playground is well patronized. One of the attractions is a cage of monkeys which affords much amusement to the visitors.

Careful observers believe that Nichols' Park is used more than are parks in other cities generally. The chautauqua which attracts to the park from three to seven thousand people daily for its annual ten day assemblies, has helped to popularize the park.

Mauvaisterre Lake Park

adjoins Nichols' Park, extending toward the city on the north and further into the country on the south and east. This embryo park includes land surrounding the newly constructed Mauvaisterre Lake of 235 acres, built to provide an increased water supply. The total area of the park is about three hundred and sixty acres in irregular formation. Included in the park improvement plan is a driveway to be called Victory Drive, and constructed as a memorial to the service men in Morgan county. Trees are to be planted along the way in memory of individual soldiers.

Duncan Park

with about four acres of well wooded land is in the best residential section about a mile west of the center of the city, with a traction line passing it. It is well lighted and is equipped with swings, teeter-boards and slides.

The Public Square

of four acres with fine shade trees is in the center of the city, easily accessible from all sections and affording especial pleasure to people in the congested districts. It is well lighted at night. Formerly concerts were given at Nichols' Park and in the Public Square; but at present there are no band concerts in any of the public parks.

None of these parks except the Public Square is easily accessible from the most populous parts of the city. The city owns no other ground available for park purposes. If those pioneer settlers who planted trees along the village streets had looked well into the future they would have retained for the city for park purposes the lands adjacent to the Town Brook which flows thru the city and those adjoining Mauvaisterre Creek which flows on two sides of the city. These streams were of great natural beauty, and formerly well wooded. The lands near them were not and probably never will be of great value for other than park purposes.

Damage by the elements and ruthless hacking by telephone companies together with oncoming age will, in the near future, remove most of the fine trees along the streets of Jacksonville. When the city was laid out there was scarcely a tree on or near its site.

Pioneers from New England planted elms and other trees along the village streets and around their homes. In their maturity these trees have made Jacksonville famous. Several streets are arching with them and among the elms are specimens not excelled in America. In approaching the city from any direction a stranger would not expect to find a city, were it not for church spires, smoke stacks, etc., so completely is the city hidden by its luxuriant tree growth.

For many years there has been little planting of desirable trees, most of those planted being varieties which grow quickly and break down easily. Hardy trees should be planted along the streets, else the city in the not far distant future will become almost treeless. Not only should the streets be planted with trees; but as rapidly as hard surfaced roads are extended from the city trees should be planted along them for while trees are a nuisance along earth roads they will prove a blessing along hard roads.

Individual Parks.

Nichols' Park, with an area of about ninety acres, including fifteen acres of water, is on the southeastern edge of the city, about two miles from the center. The city traction line extends to the park. It is well lighted by electricity, the lights continuing until midnight during warm weather. The land is rolling and well suited for park purposes. When established there were a few native trees upon it but many others have been planted and it now has good shade. During the warm season the park is policed by a special officer in addition to the superintendent who has police powers. Some people however, feel that this park is not as well located as it should be.

Recently the grounds have been beautified by planting of additional shrubs, and transplanting some of the old in places where they will show to better advantage. The driveways have

RECREATION IN JACKSONVILLE

Too much attention has frequently been paid to the artificial, and too little to the natural development of the parks. When Nichols' park was laid out a thoroughly competent landscape artist prepared plans for its development. A start was made on these plans, but a member of the commission objected to the planting of the shrubbery because it was difficult to mow around it; hence it was replanted on straight lines. It is doubtful if the original plans could be found today.

A landscape architect is now preparing plans for the new Mauvaisterre lake extension. It is hoped that, as he is entirely competent, the park commissioners of the future will at least preserve the plans he submits on paper.

The streets of the city should also be placed in charge of the park commissioners for tree planting. Trees could easily be produced on lands in their care for use in beautifying the streets. Damage by the elements and ruthless hacking by telephone companies together with oncoming age will, in the near future, remove most of the fine trees along the streets of Jacksonville. ILLINOIS COLLEGE TO PLAY SHURTLEFF

Blue and White Will Play First Game of Baseball Since 1916

Coach Harmon Has Good Looking Squad.

Illinois College will play her first game of baseball since 1916 when she will hook up with Shurtleff on Illinois field Friday afternoon.

For several weeks Coach Harmon has had his men working out when weather permitted. From indications he will have a team that will do credit to the college.

Up to the entrance of this country in the world war Illinois always had a good team. In 1917 the team started to practice but enlistments came so fast that the schedule was abandoned and no effort has since been made to organize a team.

There is not a man left of the 1916 team except Fanning the pitcher. He is better than he ever was and should give any hitters in this conference a tough time.

Jones will do the receiving for Illinois and other men of experience are Davis at third and Ferreira at short who both played on the Springfield high school team.

While he was not definitely decided on the time it is probable that the game will be called at 4 o'clock. Coach Harmon announces the following lineup to start the game:

Jones, p; Fanning, p; Fierke, lb; Cully, 2b; Ferreira, ss; Davis, 3b; Miller, lf; Burrus, cf; Riley, rf.

Philadelphia—The University of Nebraska has entered in the one-mile relay and the sprint medley races at the University of Pennsylvania relay carnival on April 29 and 30. It was announced today. These events are two of the features of the carnival, the French team being entered in both of them.

BIG LEAGUE WILL OPEN SEASON TODAY

Pennant Chase Begins in National and American Leagues—Good Weather Promised for Opening—Sox Open at Detroit—Cubs at Home.

Sixteen teams of the National and American baseball leagues today begin their annual pennant chase for the right to participate in the world's series championship with its attendant reward of gold and acclaim of fandom.

Weather favorable to the pastime is predicted for the opening contests.

With the various teams strengthened at weak points and the shifting of players to new zones of activity, officials and close followers of the sport are confident that close and exciting struggles will feature the season in each league.

In accordance with the usual schedule for the initial games, today's contests are confined to East vs. East and West vs. West games. In the Western League, Brooklyn faces Boston, at Boston. New York opens against the Phillies, at Philadelphia; Pittsburgh opposes Cincinnati, on the Red's grounds, and St. Louis is the guest of the Chicago Cubs.

In the American circuit, the Philadelphia Athletics face Babe Ruth and the rest of the Yankees, at New York; Boston plays Washington, at the National capital; Chicago tackles the Detroit Tigers, under the leadership of Ty Cobb, at Detroit, while the world championship Cleveland combination, headed by Tris Speaker, unlimber their bats in the ball park of the St. Louis Browns.

ILLINOIS OPENS WITH NORTHWESTERN TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Ill., April 12.—The Western Conference baseball season will be opened officially tomorrow, when northwestern journeys to Urbana to meet the University of Illinois, runner-up to Michigan in last year's race. Illinois and Purdue started to open the season last Saturday, but the game was called in the third inning because of cold.

Following tomorrow's game, the Illini go to Columbus on Saturday, to meet Ohio State, and on the same day the University of Chicago will meet Iowa on the latter's diamond.

Wisconsin is to start its spring training trip this week, meeting Valparaiso, Ind., on Thursday and Notre Dame on Friday and Saturday. Michigan will return from its southern trip on April 18 and play their first Big Ten game at home with Purdue on April 25.

Senator Knox, "relates to the future and may well be deferred until there is stabilization of present world confusion."

The senator added that such a declaration was not a part of his peace resolution adopted by the last congress and pointed out that he had offered it more than a year before as a part of the resolution calling upon the peace conference to separate the league of nations covenant from the peace treaty.

"My purpose," he said was to give assurance that such servance did not mean an expression of aloofness by the United States from conditions that might in the future threaten the civilization of the world."

RHEUMATISM

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Sub-acute Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have had it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally I found a treatment that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bed ridden, some of them 70 to 80 years old, and the results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from such forms of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of getting rid of your rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

JUDGE LANDIS TELLS BALL PLAYERS THEY MUST TAKE CHANCE

Says Public is Fair and Will Be Won by Hard Playing

PLAYERS MUST HELP TO SAVE GAME

CHICAGO, April 12.—Federal Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner tonight warned major league baseball players that they were facing a hard proposition in regaining the confidence of the public this season and that while a spirit of fairness would make the fans forgive errors the American public would never forgive the man who didn't take a chance.

Speaking at a banquet to the two big league teams, Judge Landis urged the players to try their hardest at all times and not to be afraid of taking chances.

"Never before in any activity in the United States has anything been scrutinized as will our game," said Judge Landis. "We know that it is without going over a painful subject. With that thought in mind I want to give you a thought in my mind."

"If a man gets caught off first, if he muffs a ball, there will be winks of eyes in the stands and an 'I told you so' whispered around."

"We must put up with that for a little while and the characteristics of fair play will soon snuff out that attitude."

Public Will Be Fair.

"The American public always deals with its affairs on the merits of the case. We must play the game as hard as ever. No hanging back when you see a hard chance for fear of that mutter in the stands. Don't be afraid. If you strike out that has been done before. If a pitcher has up, that also has been done before. The crowd will have sense enough to understand in the long run. The only thing it won't forgive is being afraid to take a chance. Take chances and fight always."

"They say I have aspy on every baseball field. It is needless for me to deny this. The habituation of baseball lies with you players and not with me."

"The only thing I can do is to protect you from the influence that wrecked pugilism, racing and other sports—the gentlemen who would debauch the crucifix to win a bet."

While I am doing this, however, I want you men to set high standards inside the team. Remember that when you shoot craps and gamble, you may be misjudged, remember that the public is scrutinizing your conduct off the field as well as on it.

MISS PIERSON MADE TRIP TO VOLCANO

Miss Cordelia Pierson, daughter of A. Pierson of this city, is now a member of the faculty of the Kawaihau seminary in Honolulu. In a recent letter to her father, Miss Pierson tells of a very interesting trip to the volcano at Mt. Kilauea. Miss Pierson went with a party and the trip to Hilo took about 16 hours. Then the journey was continued to Rainbow Falls and thence to Mt. Kilauea. They stayed at the volcano house, which is on the edge of the large but now extinct crater, overlooking the crater, which is in action. The letter describes in detail some of the beauties of the scenery about the crater and also the awful grandeur of the seething mass of lava.

Miss Pierson taught school for a number of years in Macon, Ga., then was in Springfield for a year or two before taking her present responsible position in Honolulu. It is her intention to return to Illinois this year.

MRS. RANKIN KEEPS REMARKABLE STRENGTH

While Mr. Ensley Moore was in Springfield to attend the sessions of the Springfield Presbytery, he was a visitor at the home of Henry B. Rankin, for a number of years resident in Jacksonville. Mr. Rankin, who has been a shut-in for a long period, is now 86 years of age and retains a mental vitality to a remarkable degree.

Mr. Rankin is widely known as an authority on historical matters relating to Lincoln. The interest in his book on Lincoln, published in recent years, is shown by the fact that he has in his files 1,000 letters written by people in widely scattered localities commenting upon this volume.

Michael O'Brien and family of Dwight, Ill., have been guests for several days at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary O'Brien, on East Lafayette avenue.

SIMPLE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get two ounces of calomel powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads and the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get them out after they become hard. The calomel powder and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Any trouble with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.

OLD HOUSE NEARLY RAZED TO GROUND

Fitzsimmons Structure on North West Street One of Oldest in the City—Kindergarten Conducted There in Early Years.

The work of razing the old house at the northwest corner of Court and West streets, the property of the Fitzsimmons estate, is nearing completion. Charles W. Fitzsimmons said yesterday that he believes that his father came into possession of the property about 1868. A few years prior to that time it was owned by a Mr. Trowog, who had a candy shop on the north end of the lot and also operated a business place near the northwest corner of the square. Mr. Trowog was a relative of the Cassell family.

There is a legend that in the early days of Jacksonville a school was for a number of years maintained in the house. It is said that the late Miss Melendy for a number of years maintained a kindergarten there. It is remembered by friends of the late Mr. Veitch that when indulging in reminiscences of early Jacksonville he often referred to this kindergarten.

Certain it is that the dwelling was fully 80 years old. Much of the lumber which entered into its construction was of a very heavy type and is in a remarkable state of preservation. Most of the framing lumber was smooth timbers, just about as solid today as they were when placed in position 75 or 80 years ago.

At the memorial hour special tribute was paid to the late Dr. T. D. Logan, for so many years actively associated with the work of the Presbytery.

The following commissioners to the general assembly were chosen: Ministerial—Reverends W. A. Freidenger, missionary to India; J. W. McDonald, Decatur; J. B. Muir, Lincoln.

Alternates—Reverends M. B. Wiles, Virginia; W. C. Shafer, Springfield; D. G. Carson, Pawnee.

Fitzsimmons Structure on North West Street One of Oldest in the City—Kindergarten Conducted There in Early Years.

The work of razing the old house at the northwest corner of Court and West streets, the property of the Fitzsimmons estate, is nearing completion. Charles W. Fitzsimmons said yesterday that he believes that his father came into possession of the property about 1868. A few years prior to that time it was owned by a Mr. Trowog, who had a candy shop on the north end of the lot and also operated a business place near the northwest corner of the square. Mr. Trowog was a relative of the Cassell family.

There is a legend that in the early days of Jacksonville a school was for a number of years maintained in the house. It is said that the late Miss Melendy for a number of years maintained a kindergarten there. It is remembered by friends of the late Mr. Veitch that when indulging in reminiscences of early Jacksonville he often referred to this kindergarten.

Certain it is that the dwelling was fully 80 years old. Much of the lumber which entered into its construction was of a very heavy type and is in a remarkable state of preservation. Most of the framing lumber was smooth timbers, just about as solid today as they were when placed in position 75 or 80 years ago.

SUGGEST FIVE PER CENT TAX ON CORPORATIONS

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Suggestion of a five per cent tax on corporations to replace the excess profits tax was made to the American farm bureau federation conference today by T. S. Adams, tax expert of the treasury department. He also expressed opposition to a sales tax.

The conference then voted to extend an invitation to Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah and other advocates of a sales tax to discuss with them the proposals. A program of legislation in the interest of the farmers will later be placed before congress by the conference. J. R. Howard, president of the federation declared he had received advice from four states that schools in some sections were being forced to close on account of the inability of farmers to pay taxes. The economic situation in all sections of the country was described as serious.

Social Events

East Side Club Studies Art of Candy Making

The East Side Tuesday club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. K. C. Pierson, on East State street. A very interesting part of the afternoon was a candy demonstration. Mrs. D. E. Kennedy showed how to make an- gel fudge and Mrs. Pierson demonstrated the making of the different kinds of fondants or French candies.

While the ladies were waiting for the candy to cool, a short program was given. Mrs. M. R. Range played a piano solo, Mrs. Clarence Rataichak gave a delightful reading and Mrs. E. L. Hill gave a vocal solo.

After this pleasant program the guests enjoyed a social hour and ate the excellent candy which had been made in the afternoon's demonstration.

Ella Ewing Circle Met Last Evening

The Ella Ewing Missionary Circle of the Central Christian church met last evening at the home of Miss Ethel Shortridge, on South East street. Mrs. Walton Bland was the leader and her subject was, "The Translation of the Bible in India." Mrs. Bland gave a very interesting talk, speaking of the influence of the Bible in the eastern country.

There were two special numbers on the program. Miss Marian De Pew gave a splendid reading and Mrs. Mae Hite and Mrs. Peck sang a lovely duet, "The Indian Sunset Song."

After this excellent program a pleasant social hour was spent. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Miss Shortridge and Miss Ruth Henderson.

Queen Esther Circle Met With Miss Smith

The Queen Esther Circle of the Centenary church was entertained last evening at the home of Miss Clara Smith, on Caldwell street. Miss Evana Gowdy and Miss Dorothy Dodsworth were the leaders, and there was an interesting discussion, taken from the study book, "The Home and the Community." Mrs. William Bartlett, who is a bride of a few weeks, was the guest of honor at the enjoyable social hour which followed the discussion.

Albert Killam Given Surprise Party

A number of the friends of Albert Killam, from west of the city, gave him a surprise party Monday evening at his home on West Lafayette avenue. The occasion was Mr. Killam's fiftieth birthday, and about twenty-two of his friends came to Mr. and Mrs. Killam's home to help him celebrate the event. A pleasant evening was spent with cards and music, and a splendid supper was served with the good things which the guests brought. Mr. Killam was the recipient of many hearty congratulations.

State Street Society Has Meeting

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of State Street church held a meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Strawn, on West State street. Mrs. T. P. Laning led the devotional services and following that a discussion on the subject of "Japan" was held. Mrs. Leon Jaeger was the leader, and she spoke in an interesting way of the missionary work that is being conducted in the eastern country.

The program was followed by a very pleasant social hour, during which refreshments were served. This was the first meeting of the church year under the new officers.

Grace Church Ladies Have Supper

The ladies of Grace church held a supper last evening, preceding the revival services. Each lady took something for supper with her and also invited a guest who was not a regular attendant at church to go with her. The affair was quite a success and there was a large attendance.

Christian Endeavor Society Had Social

The members of the Senior Christian Endeavor society of Central Christian church enjoyed a social in the church parlors Monday evening. The guests played some amusing games and held several contests. The winners of the latter were Malcolm Hulet, Miss Ruth Fuller and Miss Lois Harney.

Much merriment was caused when the thirty guests present paired off and joined in a wedding march, which ended at a table spread with sumptuous things to eat. In every way the social was a very gay affair.

Altar Society of The Church of the Visitation

The Altar Society of the Church of the Visitation at Alexander held a hen party at the home of Mrs. A. J. Johnson Tuesday. There was a big attendance of members and friends and a goodly sum was realized from the sale of the hens which will be used for the church. The hostesses for the afternoon were: Mrs. William Johnson, Mrs. George White, Mrs. Wesley Knouse, Mrs. Barbara Ludwig and Miss Elizabeth Ridder. During the afternoon delicious refreshments were served.

Orleans Country Club Met With Mrs. A. E. Curry

The Orleans Country Club met with Mrs. Albert E. Curry Tuesday afternoon with a good attendance of members. The paper for the afternoon was by Mrs. William Cleary, her subject being, "Things Worth While." It proved most interesting to the members. Roll call was responded to on the same subject. Music was furnished by a Victrola during the afternoon. In the social hour that followed the program the hostess served refreshments. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Charles M. Strawn, April 26.

Queen Esther's Give Tin Rush

The Queen Esther society of Centenary church held its regular meeting Tuesday night at the home of Miss Clara Smith on Caldwell street. The feature of the evening was a "tin rush" for Mrs. Ruth Bartlett, many useful articles being presented.

The devotional leader of the evening was Miss Ruth Wilkinson and the leader Miss Dorothy Dodsworth.

Following the regular business session a social hour was enjoyed during which a solo, "A Little Pink Rose," was rendered by Miss Eunice Haerle and a reading by Miss Garnaed Phelps.

R. N. of A. Give Basket Supper

Star Camp No. 171, R. N. of A., held its regular meeting Tuesday night at Woodman hall with an unusually large attendance of members. After the regular order of business the members adjourned to the dining room where a basket supper was spread and greatly enjoyed.

It was decided that following the next meeting a box social and entertainment would be given to which the members of Camp No. 912, M. W. A. will be invited.

HAS SEEN MANY YEARS BUT PLOWS IN FIELD

Mr. McDonald, Who Recently Celebrated His Ninety-Second Birthday, Has No Fear of Work.

Persons who have driven thru the country a few miles northeast of Jacksonville in recent days, have seen an aged man in the field plowing. He is the father of John and James MacDonald, long time residents of this county, and is at this time 92 years of age. Mr. McDonald walks behind a three-horse plow and is able to turn over as much dirt in a day's time as many a man half his age. He walks by preference as he has little or no use for a riding plow and other "new-fangled" ideal in farm cultivation.

Mr. McDonald plows and does other farm work because he much prefers it to a life of idleness. In fact, he attributes the length of his years to the fact that he has worked so steadily and has maintained his interest in every-day affairs. His appetite is good, his digestion excellent and at 92 years of age gives promise of still further years of activity.

Mrs. J. C. Lewis spent Monday shopping in the city from Miami.

present expressed afterward their satisfaction with the president's views, tho there was a wide divergence of views among them regarding the likelihood of an early ratification of the Versailles treaty with the league and other portions omitted.

It was pointed out that the treaty was not now before the senate having been returned to the White House after the second failure to ratify it and that Mr. Harding had shown no indications that he meant to re-submit it in the near future. In his address today he did not specifically declare his intention to do so, merely saying that in reference to separate treaties with Germany and Austria, "the whole course would seem to be the acceptance of the confirmation of our rights and interests as already provided and to engage under the existing treaty assuming, of course, that this can be satisfactorily accomplished by explicit reservations."

By some senators the words of the president were taken to mean that his mind still was open on the question of reserved ratification and that he merely suggested that course as preferable to separate peace. The point stressed by him in that connection and emphasized recently in other administration quarters was that the United States must find some way to reach a diplomatic agreement with both Germany and the allies which would fully protect such advantages as this government gained under the unratified pact of Versailles.

In his endorsement of the peace declaration the president expressed disapproval of the proposal of some senators to attach to the declaration resolution a general expression of the American government's policy toward future European wars. This proposal has taken various forms but the amendment most favored in recent discussion would declare that if European peace and civilization again were threatened the United States would regard it a menace to its own safety and would take steps to prevent a world catastrophe.

Senator Knox, Republican, Pennsylvania, author of the peace resolution to be urged by the Republican leaders, indicated tonight that he was in agreement with the president and would oppose the policy declaration.

Mr. Harding gave congress no exposition of his views on the formation of an association of nations, merely renewing in his address his pledge to work for such an organization with all the diplomatic means available.

DIVORCE SUIT FILED

In the office of Circuit Clerk Wanamaker, suit for divorce was filed yesterday by Mildred Baldwin, directed against her husband, Isaac Baldwin. The complainant is represented by Masters & Masters of Springfield, and the bill sets forth that the marriage occurred in April, 1915, and that Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin lived together until April 1 of the present year. The defendant is accused of infidelity.

Hair Free Arm Pits

There are many things which will remove the superfluous hairs, but many of them are so irritating, burn and reddens the skin. It is no longer necessary to go to it in such a manner. Superfluous hair can now be removed by an application which is absolutely safe and never fails to remove every hair so thoroughly that not a vestige of it remains. There is only one thing that will do this, and that is a safe solution. This can be obtained from any drug store. The hairs are merely moistened with it for a few moments, and then are seen to literally wither and disappear. The skin is left soft, smooth, and free from the hair growth, it never falls to remove the hairs completely and thoroughly.

Skin Creams, to Accomplish the Greatest Good, Should Be Freshly Made

Your complexion is not merely in the very outer skin. It is deeper than that. It is in that part of the skin immediately underneath the outer layer. Complexion creams which merely affect the outer layer are as a rule very ineffectual. A method gaining success lies in the use of zintone, a powder which is mixed at home with a little glycerine and dissolved in water. This makes an exquisite cream. The zintone can be secured at any drug store in one-ounce packages. This is also a very economical method. By liberal use of this article, a tremendous difference in the complexion is noted in a few days by the disappearance of mud-diness, sallowness, red spots, freckles and other blemishes.

To Remove Blackheads Without Pinching or Squeezing

There is only one preparation sold exclusively for the instant removal of blackheads, without pinching or squeezing the flesh, and that is a powder. Try this powder (not a soap) on your wash cloth tonight and see how quickly the blackheads are dissolved. Noxolin powder in original package is to be found at any drug store, and a package will last for some time.

Chapin, April 12.—The Chapin Woman's club met with Mrs. P. H. Ham, Tuesday afternoon. There were nine members and on guest present. Roll call was answered by naming the rulers of Russia. A splendid paper on "Peter, the Great, of Russia," was read by Mrs. Gustave Onken. During the social hour that followed refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Miss Seaman.

G. A. Allen was a Meredosa visitor Monday.

We were very pleased Monday to hear that Miss Nellie Calloway was recovering nicely after a recent severe operation, performed at the Methodist sanatorium in Albuquerque, New Mexico, where she has been for several months.

Mrs. Monte Funk was shopping in Jacksonville Tuesday.

Miss Amy Moody has a badly sprained ankle, the result of a fall Sunday. The injury is very painful as the ligaments were torn loose.

J. M. Fox is badly crippled with rheumatism.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bridgman left Tuesday for an extended stay in LaFayette, Ind., called there by the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Louis U. Alvord.

Miss Addie Fox was the honor guest at a very delightful progressive luncheon Monday. Miss Johanna Onken had invited sixteen special friends of the bride to her home at one o'clock and it was there that the first course of the luncheon was eaten. We were then asked to go on to Miss Amy Onken's where a delicious salad course was much enjoyed.

Mrs. Harry K. Onken was the next and last hostess, where we were served ice cream, dainty heart shaped cakes, mints and coffee. The rest of the afternoon was pleasantly spent in music and conversation.

BRIGHT APPEARS ON EVERGREENS

Attention has been called to a blight which is appearing on a number of evergreen trees in this vicinity. It is said to be the "Woolly Aphis," and collects in bunches on the tree and destroys the bark. A local authority said yesterday that owners of evergreens should keep a lookout for this pest, and when it appears use an early dormant spray similar to that used on apple trees.

F. W. GRASSLEY LOST HEAVILY BY FIRE

Former Jacksonville Man Owned Battery Station Burned at Frankfort—Lost Personal Effects Too

Friends of F. W. Grassley, who has for more than a year past been located at Frankfort, Ky., in charge of an Exide battery station there, will be sorry to know that the station was recently destroyed by fire. The loss on this building and others adjoining totaled $25,000. Only a small portion of Mr. Grassley's stock worth $6,800 was saved and all of the personal property of both Mr. and Mrs. Grassley was destroyed, as they had rooms in the establishment.

Until just a few weeks before the fire Mr. Grassley had carried a considerable amount of insurance but as the rate was high he decided to cancel the policy. A Frankfort paper gives an extended account of the fire, including the following paragraphs:

"Fire thought to have originated from a furnace used yesterday in rendering lard in the meat store owned by Charles Pincel on Bridge street resulted in the destruction last night at 11 o'clock of the real estate and personal property valued at approximately $25,000.

"The building and entire stock of the meat store was completely destroyed. The adjoining building owned by William H. Hoke and occupied by the Exide Battery station, operated by F. W. Grassley, was burned to the ground. Only a small portion of the stock of the Exide station was saved.

"The residence and photograph gallery of H. G. Mattern was practically totally damaged. Only the walls of the building remain standing. Mr. Mattern's residence was the last of the three buildings to burn.

"The fire was first discovered by Policeman Louis Kessler and several persons on their way home from town. Mr. Kessler said that he had passed by the store ten minutes before the fire was discovered and that there was not any sign of flames in the store. The store had been closed for the evening at 10 o'clock. F. W. Grassley, the proprietor of the battery station and his wife had just returned from the picture show about twenty minutes before the discovery of the flames. He said that there was not any light in the store as he passed. He did not learn of the fire until someone ran into his building and told him that the meat store was on fire.

"Probably the greatest sufferer is the manager of the Exide station. He lost all of his household effects and managed to save only a few batteries and automobile accessories.

"One month ago Mr. Grassley said that he took an invoice of his stock and that he had $6,800 worth of goods. He had carried insurance for six months but as the rate was high and as he had not had any fire he decided to cancel the insurance. He lived under his store. All of his personal property was destroyed. He did not have any insurance on his personal effects."

AUGUSTANA WON IN DEBATE HERE

Visitors From North Illinois Institution Given Decision—Immigration Question Discussed.

The Augustana debating team won a unanimous decision over Illinois college before a small audience in the college chapel Tuesday evening. The absence, on account of illness, of Lane Thomason, one of the Illinois debaters, was keenly felt. His position was ably filled by Elmer Nickel, who was under a handicap, since he had only two days in which to prepare.

The question for debate was: "Resolved, That European Immigration Should Be Further Restricted By Law." Illinois upheld the affirmative and was represented by Raye L. Ragan, Elmer Nickel and Homer Thompson. The Augustana team included Earl Hanson, Miss Barbara Garst and Lester Palmer.

The affirmative based their arguments on the facts that the present influx of immigration brought with it many political undesirable; that contagious diseases were not sufficiently guarded against, and the present immigration laws did not bar Bolshevists, who exert their influence on the uneducated foreigners already in this country.

The negative supporters brought out the facts that there was no appreciable increase in immigration; that immigrants would be necessary in the economic development of this country; that the class of immigrants had not deteriorated in recent years, and that immigration was in accordance with the new spirit of internationalistic harmony. They suggested as a remedy a more stringent enforcement of the present immigration laws.

President Rammekamp was chairman of the debate. The judges were: Dean Manchester and Prof. Holmes from the State Normal School of Normal, and Prof. Hirsch, of the State Normal school at Macomb.

BABYLON IS THEME OF EVANGELIST L'MANCE

"The Fall of Belshazzar." Is Subject of Strong Sermon at Grace Church Last Night.

At Grace church last night Evangelist L'mance delivered a strong sermon on the theme, "The Fall of Belshazzar." There was a large audience present and they all heard his words with great interest. The speaker founded his sermon upon the words of fire written on the walls of Belshazzar's palace, "Mene, mene, tekel, upharison." Daniel 5:25.

After vividly describing the city of Babylon the evangelist said that we are repeating in our time the vices that brought Babylon to her fall. He said: Daniel was about the only man in that city whose character was not found wanting. Belshazzar was drinking with the great throngs gathered in his palace when he saw the letters written on the walls of the palace, which Daniel alone could read and interpret.

"Many people building up a financial kingdom in opposition to the kingdom of God. This sin is condemned in no uncertain way in the Bible. There is the story of the rich fool whose land brought forth so abundantly that he had to pull down his old barns and build new ones. After he had gathered in his abundant crops he said: 'Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years. Take thy ease. Eat, drink and be merry.' But he got his psychology and physiology crossed. Corn, wheat, cattle and hogs cannot satisfy the soul.

"Upon the walls of the soul God writes the word, 'Upharison.' From Belshazzar was suddenly taken away the material things upon which he had set his hope. Belshazzar was weighed and found wanting.

If wealth weighed labor it would be always found wanting. If labor weighed capital it would be found wanting. If the girls in the social whirl weighed the girl in the shop the latter would be found wanting and so on. But God is the judge.

"The good Book says man shortens his days by sin and life is lengthened by righteousness. Mene is already upon the sinful life. Its days are numbered. It is a mercy of God that we do not know when death shall come. If we did, many would go mad. While we may not know the hour, yet it will come. Shall it find us ready or shall we be found wanting?"

TWO LITERBERRY WOMEN CELEBRATE BIRTHDAYS

Two of the well known residents of Literberry celebrated their birthday anniversaries Tuesday, Mrs. C. T. Berry her seventieth anniversary and Mrs. Jane McFarland her fifty-fifth. The occasion was quietly but very pleasantly observed at the Berry home, where a limited company of friends met for a few hours of social enjoyment. Among the guests was Mrs. Lizzie Coons of St. Louis. Delightful refreshments were served. A large angel food cake made by Mrs. A. Radloff, daughter of Mrs. Berry, and containing the whites of seventy eggs was an important part of the refreshments. The occasion was very pleasant for all concerned.

GETTING MAINS READY FOR PURE WATER

Work of Flushing Is Now in Progress--Ten Days Required for This Work.

Men from the water department of the city were busy last night flushing the principal water mains which are those on West College avenue, West State street, South Main street and Morton avenue, leading to the pumping station. Other streets were cut off and with the force from the standpipe and reservoir water was put thru the mains, in an effort to cleanse them as thoroughly as possible. Liquid chlorine is being used in the water to make this work more effective.

The hydrants all over the city are to be opened and the lateral mains cleaned with the water and chlorine solution. It is the expectation that this work will be concluded in the course of ten days or two weeks. At that time the water will be tested as it comes from the mains in various ways before any announcement is made that it is ready for drinking purposes.

Why We Are Strong for Willard

We've seen a lot of batteries, but never another like the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery.

Threaded Rubber insulates the plates instead of separating them the way wood separators do.

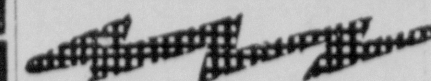

No carbonizing, puncturing, checking or cracking, because Threaded Rubber Insulation retains all the valuable insulating qualities of rubber and is not affected by acid.

That's one reason why we're strong for Willard Threaded Rubber Batteries.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

Clover Seed Moving—As a result of our advertising thru the other Farm Bureaus we received a call from a Chicago firm in regard to clover seed. We referred them to W. H. Petefish of Litterberry. Mr. Petefish met the buyer at Litterberry yesterday morning and not only sold his surplus seed but helped A. W. Petefish and Jewsbury Brothers to sell theirs. In all he purchased 340 bushels. Price $10 per bushel.

Road Planer Needed—There is one tool in use on the Wisconsin road that might well be introduced into this county. It is an inexpensive tool, known as the Road Planer. It is superior to most of the drags in that the weight is carried on two-foot runners. The planing is done by a system of cross pieces which are one-inch above the runners. This tool leads to a level surface where the road is properly patrolled instead of the up and down condition resulting from the use of the short drag. If any road official are willing to break away from the old order of things and try something new, we should be glad to give working plans that will enable any ordinary mechanic to make a good road planer.

Legumes a Source of Soil Organic Matter—It is generally recognized that the best way to add organic matter and nitrogen to the soil is to turn under legumes. The necessity of returning a part or all of the top growth of the legumes in the regular rotation is not universally admitted, however, in view of the fact that our soils appear to be gradually becoming more difficult to work, due to the gradual depletion of their organic matter content. It would seem to be the wise course to take advantage of every practical source of organic matter.

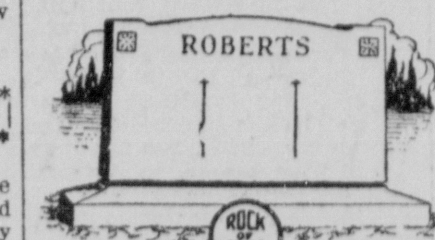

A heavy spring growth of clover can be turned under for corn with but little danger of insufficient decomposition prior to planting. Green legumes decay very rapidly and thus the danger of an unfavorable physical effect is quickly removed, and at the same time the essential nutrients which are locked up in the tissues of the legume are made available for the young corn plants. When a sweet clover seed crop is removed, leaving a heavy growth of well-matured stems and branches, late fall plowing is probably preferable as it gives a longer time in the spring for the more resistant material to decay.

Just what the ultimate physical effect of turning leguminous green manures, or failing to do so, will be, cannot be stated with very much assurance. The Minnesota Station found at the end of a 22-year period, a plot which had grown corn continuously contained 3.39 per cent of organic matter in the surface 12 inches, while an adjacent plot which had produced 5 crops of clover together with the grain crops and had received 25 tons of manure per acre, contained 4.76 per cent of organic matter, a difference of 1.37 per cent. This work also indicates that a very material and fairly rapid increase in the organic matter content of soils can be brought about about by returning a reasonable amount of crop growth, or its equivalent, in addition to that returned by the roots when a good rotation is practiced.

Do You Feel Weak?

Champaign, Ill.—"Sometime ago I was in a weakened state of health and suffered severely at times. A relative advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Favorite Prescription alternately, and through taking her advice I was eventually restored to health. I took six or eight bottles and have had no distress since and it is now three years, so I feel confident that mine is permanent relief. My health has been better and I am stronger in every way. I hope this may be the means of helping other women to find relief."—Mrs. Gertrude Carson, 78 E. Garwood street.

Text of Harding's Recommendations

"In the existing league of nations, world governing with its super-powers," the president said, "his republic will have no part."

"There can be no misinterpretation and there will be no betrayal of the deliberate expression of the American people in the recent election."

League Can Have No Sanction.

"And settled in our decision for ourselves, it is only fair to say to the world in general and to our assistants in war in particular that the league covenant can have no sanction by us. Manifestly the highest purpose of the league of nations was defeated in linking it with the treaty of peace and making it the enforcing agency of the victors of the war. There can be no prosperity for the fundamental purposes sought to be achieved by any such association, so long as it is an organ or any particular treaty or committed to the attainment of the special aims of any nation or group of nations. In rejecting the league covenant and uttering the rejection to our own people and to the world, we make no surrender of our hope and aims for an association to promote peace in which we would most heartily join."

"In the national referendum (the last election) we pledged our efforts toward such association and the pledge will be faithfully kept. In the light of policy and performance we told the American people we meant to seek an early establishment of peace. The United States alone among the allied and associated powers continues in a technical state of war against the central powers of Europe."

"The anomalous condition ought not to be permitted to continue. To establish the state of technical peace without delay, I should approve a declaratory resolution by congress to that effect with the qualifications essential to protect all our rights. Such action would be the simplest keeping of faith with ourselves and could in no sense be construed as a desertion of those with whom we shared our sacrifices in war for these powers are already at peace."

"Such a resolution should undertake to do no more than thus to declare the state of peace which all America craves. It must add no difficulty in effecting, with just reparations, the restoration for which all Europe yearns, and upon which the world economy must be founded. Neither former enemy nor ally, a mistake America's position because our attitude as to responsibility for the war and the necessity for just reparations already has had formal and very earnest expression."

"It would be unwise to undertake to make such a statement of future policy with respect to European affairs in such a declaration of a state of peace. In correcting the failure of the nation to recognize the constituted powers of the senate we would go to the other extreme equally objectionable. If congress or the senate should assume the function of the executive. Our highest duty is the preservation of the constituted powers of each and the promotion of the spirit of co-operation, so essential to our common welfare."

"It would be idle to declare for separate treaties of peace with the central powers on the assumption that these alone would be adequate, because the situation is so involved that our peace engagements already effected nor is it desirable to do so in preserving our own rights and contracting our future relations."

Points Wiser Course.

"The wiser course would seem to be the acceptance of the confirmation of our rights and interests as already provided and to engage under the existing treaty, assuming, of course, that this can be satisfactorily accomplished by such explicit reservations and modifications as will secure our absolute freedom from inadvisable commitments and safeguard all our essential interests."

"Neither congress nor the people need my assurance that a request to negotiate needed treaties of peace would be as superfluous and unnecessary as it is technically ineffective. I know in my own heart there is none who would wish to embarrass the executive in the performance of his duty when we are so eager to turn disappointment and delay into gratifying accomplishment."

"The weariness at home and the disappointment to the world have been compensated in the proof that this republic will surrender none of the heritage of nationality, but our rights in international relationships have to be asserted; they require establishment in compacts of amity; our part in readjustment and restoration can be ignored, and must be defined."

"With the super-governing league, definitely rejected, and with the world so informed, and with the status of peace proclaimed at home, we may proceed to negotiate the covenanted relationships so essential to the recognition of the rights everywhere of our nation, and play our full part in joining the peoples of the world in the pursuit of peace once more. Our obligations in affecting European tranquility, because of wars involvement are not less compelling than our part in the war itself. This restoration must be wrought before the human procession can go onward again. We can be helpful because we are moved by no hatred and harbor no fears. Helpfulness does not mean entanglement and participation in economic adjustments does not mean sponsorship for treaty commitments which do not concern us and in which we will have no part."

Expresses All-impelling Wish
"In an all-impelling wish to do the most and best for our own republic and maintain its high place among nations and at the same time make the fullest offering of justice to them, I shall invite in the most practical way the advice of the senate after acquainting it with all the conditions to be met and obligations to be discharged, along with our rights to be safeguarded. Prudence in making the program and confident co-operation in making it effective cannot lead us far astray. We can render no effective service to humanity until we prove anew our own capacity for co-operation in the co-ordination of powers contemplated in the constitution and no covenants which ignore our associations in the war can be made for the future."

"More, no helpful society of nations can be founded on justice and committed to peace until the covenants re-establishing peace are sealed by the nations which were at war."

"To such accomplishment—to the complete reestablishment of peace and its contracted relationship to the realization of our aspirations, for nations, associated for world helpfulness without world government we shall address ourselves fully mindful of the high privilege and paramount duty of the United States in this critical period of the world."

The president reserved his discussion of foreign relations for the concluding portion of his address.

He took up first the restriction of national expenditures to the limits of national income, which he said must be considered in connection with measurably lifting the burdens of war taxation. By striking resolutely at expenditure, he said, a solution would be hastened and he warned congress to continue a course of unlimited expenditure, would mean "inevitable disaster." Economy in government, he said, would find its reflex in economy and thrift among the people themselves.

Discussing readjustment of taxation President Harding said that the country did not expect and would not approve a shifting of tax burdens but was more interested in wiping out the necessity for imposing them. "The only way," he said, was committed to the repeal of the excess profits tax and to abolish the "iniquities and unjustifiable exasperations" in the present tax system.

Discussing tariff revision, the president re-affirmed his belief in the protection of American industry.

"It is our purpose," he said, "to prosper America first. The privileges of the American market to the foreign producer are offered too cheaply today, and the cost of much of our own productivity is the destruction of our self reliance, which is the foundation of the independence and good fortune of our peoples. Imports should pay their fair share of our cost of government."

Agriculture, the president said, was menaced with prices at pre-war normals and being further endangered by high cost of production from farm to market thru the influx of foreign farm products. While he urged emergency tariff revision immediately, he spoke of permanent revision later and said: "The mature revision of our tariff laws should be based on the policy of protection, resisting that selfishness which turns to greed, but ever concerned with that productivity at home which is the source of all abiding good fortune."

Deflation, the president told congress, might well receive its attention, because, while reduced costs in basic production had been recorded, deflation had failed to reach the mark where it could be "proclaimed to the great mass of consumers." Congress, he said, might help speed price readjustments by "suitable inquiry."

Discussing the railroad question, President Harding said there would be "an avowed foundation on which to rebuild," if it could be understood that "congress has no sanction for government ownership" and "does not levy taxes upon the people to cover deficits in a service which should be self-sustaining." Railway rates and costs of operation, he said, must be reduced, because freight rates had mounted until "commerce is halted and production discouraged."

Good Roads and Waterways
Development of good roads and inland waterways, the president said, were collateral subjects with the transportation question and besides endorsing federal aid to highways, he urged congress to formulate a consistent program.

Discussing the merchant marine, the president declared for "a great" one and told congress that if present laws gave advantage to competitors of American merchant marine "the spirit of American fair play will assert itself to give American carriers their equality of opportunity." He added he would report to congress if intelligent and efficient administration under existing laws made established service impossible.

The president devoted a portion of his address to wireless and cable developments, declaring for prohibition of private monopolies tending to prevent development of needed facilities. Especially desirable, he said, were ample services, "at reasonable rates for the transmission of press matter," so that "the daily press of all countries well may be put in position to contribute to international understandings by the publication of interesting foreign news."

Dealing with aviation, the president declared for its encouragement for military and civil purposes, recommended the establishment of a bureau of aeronautics in the navy department and continuation of the army air service as "a co-ordinate combatant of the army," to be used in co-operation with other agencies to establish national trans-continental air ways.

In recommending an efficient co-ordination of the various agencies having to do with the welfare and assistance of soldiers and sailors, the president made no mention of the bonus question. He recommended the creation of a department of public welfare, making it plain there was no purpose by the federal government "to evade fields which the states have occupied."

In recommending speedy consideration of the army and navy appropriation bills, the president declared that while the government was in accord with the wish to eliminate the burden of heavy armament and was ready to co-operate with governments to approximate disarmament, it would not "entirely discard our agencies for defense until there is removed the need to defend." He made no specific declaration as to the size of the army or the navy, except to say that the naval program could "carry no threat after the latest proof of our national unselfishness."

The remaining portions of the president's address were devoted to the discussion of foreign affairs.

JUDGE THOMSON GOES TO KANKAKEE

Judge William E. Thomson left Tuesday evening to attend the state convale of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen at Kankakee.

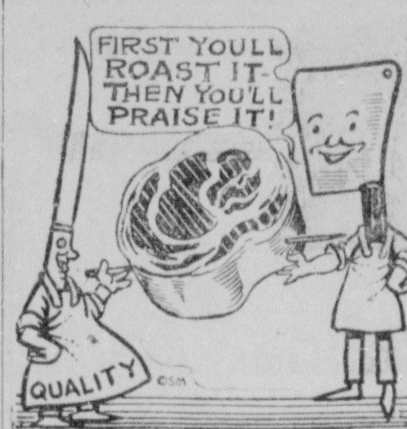

The convale meets Wednesday morning and will be in session all day, transacting the business of the quadrennial session. In the evening the ritualistic work of the order by a special team will be exemplified.

Judge Thomson holds the office of master of ceremonies, the second highest office in the state association. He expects to return Thursday.

The supreme convale of the order will be held in Denver and delegates to attend that session will be elected at Kankakee.

The Brotherhood of American Yeomen is a fraternal order, doing business on an adequate plan, and has nearly three hundred thousand members. It is especially strong in Iowa, North and South Dakota and Minnesota. The local homestead was instituted in 1909 and now has twenty-five members.

Pianos and Player Piano

Why This Store Sells Pianos Cheaper Than Any Other in This Section

We buy pianos and player pianos from one of the greatest manufacturers in the world—the House of Baldwin. This company operates two immense factories at Chicago and Cincinnati. They produce thirty thousand instruments a year. They make every part of every instrument. They have reduced the manufacture of pianos to a science. Big output, complete facilities and systematic economy enable them to produce high-grade pianos at the lowest cost. Their instruments cost us less than any others of supposedly equal grade. We can sell cheaper because we buy cheaper.

We deal directly with the manufacturers. We are, in fact, one of the two thousand distributors that constitute the House of Baldwin. The instruments pass directly from the factory to us. We pay no profits to jobbers or middlemen of any kind. The only amount we pay above the actual cost of making is the manufacturing profit. That is very small because the House of Baldwin prospers through volume of business—not because of exorbitant turnover on each instrument. We can sell cheaper because we do not have to pay several big profits.

We maintain no expensive selling force. Every piano is sold by us. We do not have to pay agents' commissions. We ask you simply one fair profit above the rock-bottom price of the instrument to us. Our personal, simple, individual way of doing business saves many a dollar on every sale, thus enabling us to mark every instrument unusually low.

By coming to this store for piano or player-piano, you can be sure of eliminating all extra profits you can enjoy the many advantages of dealing practically direct with the factory and you can get one of the famous House of Baldwin instruments that are known the world over for artistic excellence, remarkable durability and unequalled all-round value.

Daily Market ReportGRAIN AND PROVISION PRICES MAKE DROP

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 12.—Prices throughout the entire grain and provision list fell today to the lowest level since 1915. Hogs too were lower than at any time as far back as February, 1916. Selling was general, based largely on world economic conditions. Wheat closed unsettled the same as yesterday's finish to 1½¢ down, corn off ¼¢ to 1½¢ and oats lost ¼¢ to ¾¢. In provisions the outcome varied from 27¢ decline to five cents advance.

Many holders of wheat appeared to have lost confidence in likelihood of higher prices at least for the time being. In particular a number of owners of old crop supplies showed evidence of anxiety to unload and a willingness to accept the view that curtailment of buying power had been so severe as practically to take away hope of immediate relief. The consequent break in values resulted in export sales totalling 1,000,000 bushels. Demand otherwise however, was confined seemingly to profit-taking on the part of shorts. The substance of President Harding's message was generally known in "change just before the close but had no traceable effect as a market influence.

Corn and oats declined in sympathy with wheat. No adequate support developed for provisions.

AMERICAN LEGION NOTES

A membership card in the American Legion post at Astoria, L. I., saved C. H. Ellis, an organizer of the post; $500. Ellis, who is a merchant sailor, lost a purse containing that sum, while on leave from his ship in Stockholm. After a fruitless search on land, he returned to his ship without hope of ever seeing the money again. Just as the ship was weighing anchor, an honest Swede came aboard and delivered the purse with the money intact to its owner, whom he had located by means of Ellis's membership card in the Astoria Legion post.

Following the success of the "All-American Meeting for God and Country," which was held in Madison Square Garden in New York City under the auspices of the American Legion, Legion members will hold similar meetings in Texas, Maryland, Nebraska, Massachusetts and Virginia during the month of April. Americanism meetings have also been held in Philadelphia and Indianapolis.

A hungry rooster, who had missed his meals for five hours, made a fraction over $1.15 for each grain of corn he could gobble in a three-hour feast for the women of The American Legion Auxiliary in Cimarron, Kan. After being sold twice and then auctioned off, the fowl netted $328 for the Auxiliary. Placed in show window for hours with out his breakfast, the bird suddenly

Health is a Woman's Greatest Asset

Contrast the cheerful happy woman with head erect, the glow of health on her cheeks, the elastic step and bubbling enthusiasm as she goes about her daily tasks, with the woman who suffers from backache, headaches, dragging-down pains, nervousness and despondency. Such conditions are undoubtedly caused by woman's ailments which will yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for many, many years has been restoring weak, ailing women to health and strength. Every woman who suffers in this way owes it to herself to at least give it a trial.—Adv.

denly faced 1,000 grains of tempting Kansas corn. Guesses were sold at ten cents each as to how many grains he would eat. He tucked away 283 grains and retired for the night.

Dogs, cats, goats and bears were used as mascots by members of Wyandotte Post of the American Legion in Kansas City, Mo., when they were in the army. To provide shelter for their pets, in peace time the post has gone on record as favoring the establishment of a municipal zoo, with the stipulation that their mascots be installed therein.

The name of Grover Cleveland will no longer be connected with that of Bergdoll, if the will of Richard L. Kithens Post of the American Legion at Helena, Ark., prevails. The post has passed a resolution requesting the government to remove the first two names of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, notorious draft evader.

The first pilgrimage of gold star mothers overseas to visit the graves of their sons will begin June 1, when 104 women of the American War Mothers' organization will sail for France on the steamship America. In France the mothers will be guests of the Women's Auxiliary of the Paris Post of the American Legion.

Newspaper "stories" of a routine nature yielded to American Legion news when "The New Era," a newspaper of Eunice, La., turned over an entire edition to the local Legion post during a membership campaign. Every item except the want ads told of doings of the Legionnaires.

An organization, established in Wilson, Township, Pa., in October, 1917 and known as the "Mothers of 1917, Regulars," is the nucleus about which a Women's Auxiliary of Brown and Lynch Post No. 9 of the American Legion has been formed.

Buron Fitts, commander of the California Department of the American Legion, recently suffered a nervous collapse after delivering a two-hour speech at San Diego. Mr. Fitts had been devoting eighteen hours a day to Legion affairs and his illness is believed to have resulted from overwork. His present condition is said to be considerably improved. Mr. Fitts was wounded in action.

Sixty Sioux Indians, who served as intelligence scouts in the World War, will entertain delegates and visitors to the third annual convention of the American Legion at Kansas City next fall, with a tribal war dance.

Disabled veterans of the World War, nearly all of them overseas veterans and members of the Walter Reed Post of the American Legion in Washington, D. C., have adopted what they term of the "Creed of the Disabled Man," which was commended by President Harding.

The creed read as follows: "Once more to be useful, to see pity in the eyes of my friends replaced with commendation, to work, produce, provide and to feel that I have a place in the world, seeking no favors and given none, a man among men in spite of this physical handicap."

A rooming house to take care of ex-service men coming to Minneapolis, Minn., for vocational training and to obtain medical treatment is being planned by the combined forces of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion in Hennepin county of that state. The high price which disabled veterans have to pay for hotel accommodations caused the action of the women's organization.

Pupils of the School for the Blind will give their annual concert Wed. Eve. April 13th at 8:15. Adm. 25c.

JAPAN HOPES TO HAVE EXPLORER

Believed Lieutenant Shirase Will Gain Renown Equal to Peary and Scott—Plans Dash to Antarctic Regions.

TOKIO.—(By The Associated Press.)—As the United States has had its Peary and England its Scott so Japan hopes to produce its Shirase as a great explorer. Lieutenant N. Shirase, a retired officer of the Japanese army who made a trip towards the south pole beginning November, 1910, and advanced as far as 800, 5'—south latitude, is planning to make another dash into the Antarctic regions starting in July of this year.

Finding the necessary funds remains a problem for the Japanese officer but he hopes to get a government subsidy. The principle object of the new expedition will be to find a means of working the coal and other precious material and to devise methods for their exportation. In Lieutenant Shirase's first trip the main object was geographical but the object of the coming expedition is to determine more definitely the localities of the natural resources in which this region is said to be very rich.

Talking about his proposed trip Mr. Shirase said he hoped to find coal in the region about Mt. Etna which he says resembles the sacred mount, Fuji, of Japan in volcanic structure. A sensational feature of the forthcoming expedition is Shirase's proposal to fly over the ice barriers by aeroplane. Some of the barriers which his party encountered before were more than 300 feet high and the party found these almost insurmountable. To conquer this difficulty an aeroplane is to be used.

The expedition will include fourteen people including an astronomer, a geographer, a physician, a moving picture operator, a journalist and also the commander's son, Captain Tomo Shirase of the Japanese navy.

Two years are expected to be spent on the trip. The party expects to sail first to the coast of South Argentina and then rounding Cape Horn, to land somewhere in the neighborhood of the South Shetlands.

Lieutenant Shirase's first expedition party was supported largely by Marquis Okuma and other members of the Japanese Antarctic Exploring Party. The voyagers sailed from the gulf of Shinagawa on November 29, 1910 and passing the Bonin, Mariana and Caroline Islands finally reached New Zealand. They voyaged in a small steamer called "Open South," a ship of only 200 tons displacement and one of the smallest ever used in the eastern port of Edward VII Land and at south latitude 800, 5'—they buried a list of the names of patrons of the party in a copper box, crying "Banzai!" as it was lowered beneath the snow. On its return the party left Hale Gulf on February 4 and arrived at Yokohama on June 19, 1912 shortly before the death of the late Emperor Mutsuhito.

USEFUL IN EVERY HOME

Springfield, Ill.—"When I was a little girl my father used to doctor all of us children with Dr. Pierce's remedies. I remember well Dr. Pierce's Compound Extract of Smartweed for cramps and pains and the Pellets for sluggish liver and constipation. These were very satisfactory. In later years I have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in my own home as a tonic and nerve for my young daughters and it also proved itself to be most satisfactory. Dr. Pierce's remedies are safe and reliable for home use."—Mrs. Myra Whitcomb, 1605 E. Edwards St. At the druggists.—Adv.
